

STOPPING IS PART OF DRIVING.

At typical four-way intersections, traffic moves in twelve directions. Add pedestrians, a cyclist, cell phones, a cup of hot coffee, a daydream and an SUV full of third graders, and the potential for an accident is intense. All it takes is one person making the wrong move at the wrong time.

So when the light turns yellow, resist the impulse to blast through the intersection. Stopping is part of driving. Come to a complete, safe stop.

It's the Street Smart thing to do.
